LITTLE MORE IS ADDED TO DATA ON TEXAS RAID

Overnight News Brings Few Additional Details of Attack of Bandits Upon Towns in Big Bend Country.

(By Evening Herald Leased Wire)

El Paso, Tex., May 8.—Overnight reports received by General Funston early today added little to the information regarding the Mexican raid in the Big Bend country, Texas, Friday night. Later reports indicated that the size of the attacking party was greater than at first believed, some estimates being as high as 300. The raiders attacked the guard of nine men of Troop A of the Fourteenth cavalry at Glenn Springs just before midnight. The total number of killed was placed at six, three soldiers and three civilians, two of whom are small boys. After capturing their raid to meetem and Bogillas, they were reported to have recrossed into Mexico, although some of the military reports indicated that a part of the Mexican force was yet on the American side.

Captain Cole of the Fourteenth had arrived at Glenn Springs this morning with a part of one company and four troops of cavalry sent from Fort Bliss and Fort Clark, were expected to detract early today at Marathon from where the march to the border would begin. It was not expected that this force would reach the border before Wednesday night and perhaps not before Thursday. The actual distance they will have to march is 110 miles.

The additional troops being sent in to the region will be disposed of in such manner as to give the ranches and towns greater protection, but it was indicated at General Funston's headquarters that fresh effort would be made to add to the strength of the forces in the southern departments. It is decided to send into Mexico from that part of the international line a punitive expedition a much larger force is necessary than is now available according to army officers.

Marathon, on the Southern Pacific railway, almost 100 miles north of the international line, will be the center of operations. General Funston announced today. From there a field telegraph line will be run to the adopted base.

Asked today if he intended sending troops into the Big Bend district districts to those on their way, General Funston said: "I haven't any to send."

Lieutenant Norton of the Fourteenth sent to headquarters a report that confirmed earlier reports and added information regarding the rescue fight made by Sergeant Smythe, who continued to handle his men in efficient manner after he had been seriously wounded, and who rescued his wounded and removed his dead while under sharp fire.

Just before the fighting ended, the relief guard appeared and it was on the motor truck on which they had come that the sergeant was able to send away the dead and wounded. The relief guard had been delayed in reaching Glenn Springs. Had it arrived on time the raiding party would have found eighteen soldiers to meet them instead of the nine who held them off for three hours.

Two of the wounded men, privates Frank Befire and James Birk, were brought here last night for treatment in the base hospital. Befire was shot through the left hand and Birk through the arm and shoulder. His wounds were caused by buckshot.

General Funston said today it would not be proper for him to disclose whether or not an expeditionary force was going into Coahuila in pursuit of the Mexican bandits. He did not deny that there would be such a movement. He said, however, he believed that troops in "not yet" crossed the border.

General Funston said that the forces which arrived at Marathon today included only about 300 men and that with relay detachments available that will stay detachments available along the border Colonel Frederick W. Bishop, in command, would have less than 500 men at his disposal.

The general is anxious to get back to San Antonio, and will hurry there as soon as the conference here is ended.

At noon there was no sign of a conference. General Conner remained in his private car in Juarez. It was reported on the Mexican side that the minister of war was preparing to start south at 8 o'clock this evening.

Andreas Garcia, Mexican consul in El Paso, said this afternoon the conference would be held sometime after 8 o'clock probably about 9.
